Leading web design and development company, Optuno.com, announces launch of unique payment structure and subscription e-commerce functionality

Leading website design and development company Optuno, recently added new payment plans and expanded e-commerce functionality to its hassle-free and fully managed web design services. These new offerings provide businesses 100% agency-quality, custom websites with no setup fees and no long-term contracts, a game changer in an industry that is over saturated with high dollar agencies and subpar freelancers.

Optuno's new payment structure allows businesses to select a plan that works best for them; paying annually, monthly with a six-month commitment, or month-to-month, with no commitment required. Clients who select an annual or monthly plan, with a nominal six-month commitment, receive savings of up to 50%, while the month-to-month payment option gives businesses the opportunity to have a high-quality, professional and custom web design without any upfront expenses or obligation.

"While other website companies require long contractual commitment periods, we make owning a high-quality, professionally maintained website, easier and more affordable than ever before.," says Optuno Co-Founder Adam Frankel. "With our plans, businesses aren't tied down for a long period of time. We are confident in our ability to create amazing websites while providing world-class customer service. Client's aren't forced to stay, they simply want to stay.."

Following enhancements made to Optuno's e-commerce platform last Fall, comes a major upgrade to functionality to support businesses selling products and services online with recurring billing cycles. The new e-commerce subscription features, available with Enterprise E-commerce website plans, provide the ability to offer products and digital services on a recurring or auto-renew basis. Integration with major payment providers such as PayPal, Stripe, and Authorize.net make it easy for businesses to receive payment from customers.

"Our services include features and functionalities that most website companies require a third-party plugin for, or simply just don't offer," says optuno Co-Founder Michael Farin. "We have used our years of subscription commerce experience to create an auto-renew option that is battle tested and easy to use, eliminating one more step for our busy clients to sell their products and services online on a recurring basis."

Complementing the custom website company's new e-commerce features are eight exclusive mobile-friendly e-commerce themes, providing the same industry quality, responsive, user-friendly designs as Optuno's traditional website themes. With more than 50 website themes in all, available exclusively to Optuno clients, it's easier than ever before for clients to transfer their existing website to Optuno's affordable, customer-friendly service without changing the overall look or to create a new website from the ground up.

Visit <https://www.optuno.com> for more information or contact Michael Farin at PR@Optuno.com for media inquiries.
